News From Your TOWN HALL

No meeting was held Wednesday night except that held with representatives of local organizations to discuss the proposed bond issue.

There were six organizations present, and many questions were asked and answered, and a clear picture of the local necessity of something to be done about the water.

The ladies got a word in as to the benefits of going to the lake for the town and Community suggested that a big saving would be made, and a lot of convenience added on account of the soft water that will be obtained from ake water.

First Chief Willy pointed out that a number of times last year the Town and Community were practically saved from the mere chance of no fire occurring, because there were times when there was absolutely no water in the tanks, and many times when the supply was dangerously low.

This, it was pointed out, occurred around late afternoon and early night, because the pumping plant and all private users drew heavily on the system.

Mr. Risk pointed out that the Water Department had an annual "lake" of about $50,000 now and this would increase greatly when additional equipment is installed.

Commissioner Mayo has ordered 5" pipe to be laid by the Prison Farm to connect up the inmates as well as their cunnings plant and the sugar mill. Soon, it is hoped, Ramey will be in process and this will add to the demands of the newest big customer.

Local Masons Have Past Masters Night

With all Chairs filled by Past Masters, Belle Glade Lodge No. 219 celebrated Past Masters night Tuesday with a barbecue meeting. The Eastern Star served the food to approximately 80.

Five candidates received the Master Degree. They are: Dr. C. L. Anderson, J. W. Ingram, Roy Lane and M. D. Hardy. The following Past Masters filled the Chairs for the work: F. L. Anderson, A. A. Kirkman, C. M. Green, J. W. Ingram, and F. P. Harrington. Past Master of Palokoe, were present.

Worshipful Master Cherry of the local lodge furnished the pigs for the barbecue.

The local Masons have a lodge of approximately 50 members though only about three years old.

It Isn't All Bi-a-h

PETE SEZ— "In keeping with our policy of taking care of the customer, I am announcing an improvement to the Belle Glade facility. It's a pure demonstration of our alertness to the needs and wishes of our 'dear cus-tomers'."

"Now you know, hereafter whenever anything went wrong with the Belle Glade end of the service, everybody went out. We were going to head off direct line from the substation to the terminals at Belle Glade so that other interruptions to the service will stop. The packing houses when anything happens to their service they can stay in their own juices or lack of juice."

Pete is bursting with other news that can't be released just yet, but you won't be disappointed when he hears it.

Will To Win, Skill and Bravery Bring Honors To Pilot

Leroy Alsapugh Commended For Goin There And Getting Back

Leroy (Junior) Alsapugh, with eight of his fellow crew members of a B-24 Liberator, has been commended by Lieut. Gen. Spaatz, Commanding General of U. S. Strategic Air Forces in Europe and Lieut. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, Eighth Air Force Commander with a "me too" from his division Commander.

Leroy and his crew chose to fly a back-battered and disabled plane 400 miles thru enemy territory on the chance of fighting.

By skillful piloting he rode the commendation from Munich in July when burning flesh hit his ship like hail on a tin roof, crippling No. 1 and 2 engines before reaching the target. By skillful piloting he rode the storm of hail and stayed with his formation until the bombs were dropped. But the crippled Liberator, slowed down by coughing engines, was compelled to drop out as the fleet turned to drop out on the "Dead End Kids," a prey to lurking snafu fighters ready to swoop down mercilessly on a ship out of formation, set a course across the towering Alps, a course across the mountains and over a country a short distance away or a perilous journey to Italy, some 400 precarious miles a day.

It was a predicament requiring coolness and decision faced by Lieutenant Alsapugh.

"Quickly conferring by interphone with each crew member, the pilot explained to his men the situation they faced. To land safely a few miles ahead in the neutral country and remain there with their ship as a journey of 400 miles fraught with peril from deadly enemy fighters and ack-ack guns and take the chance of saving the ship and themselves for future battering of enemy occupied Continental Europe. He told them his decision was to continue to Italy.

We were all sweating out the trip," Lieutenant Alsapugh said when interviewed in England, "especially when we flew over enemy airfields and could see single and twin-engine fighters on the ground. Luckily for us, the B-24, however, off in the distance attacked and shot down by a flock of ME 410's."

None of the crew members hesitated as the pilot calmly spoke to each of them over the interphone; unanimously they voted to continue on to Italy.

With good luck and skillful airmanship, they reached Italy. But there was more "sweating it out" for the crew before they landed.

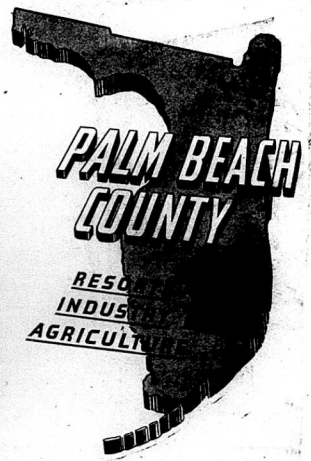

"The markings on our ship were not coming in on to Italy," Lieutenant Alsapugh said, "and our radio worked weirdly. We lowered our landing gear to indicate a friendly ship in case the gunners were thinking of taking pot shots at us."

Literally coming in on two engines and a prayer, "Dead End Kids" made a silent landing as an American fighter base. All the pilots were American, trained at Tuskegee Institute, Alabama.

Full Program For Labor Day Week End At Country Club

Beginning Saturday afternoon at one p. m. a 36-hole golf tournament will inaugurate an annual Labor Day event lasting through Monday night when the Boca Raton Band will furnish dance music for the Grand Ball.

The 36-hole tournament will last through Sunday afternoon and all types of players are invited to attend—golfers and juniors.

On Monday afternoon a one-half mixed tournament will be held. Pairings will be made by the gentlemen drawing the name of his lady partner from a hat.

In this tournament players take a swing alternately at the ball, and if play is normal by each player, the handicap is supposed to make each threesome end up with the same score. Of course that is an improbability, because the same mistakes won't be made each time.

Pro Bill Schreiber says "We want to make this a real outing for the community. We want our friends and want many to participate as possible. We are going to encourage the occasional player and handicaps will be made with that in view."

Chairman McChase and his assistant Chester Van Landingham are hoping that a full house will be on hand particularly for the Monday afternoon play and the dance Labor Day night. Special attention is being given to caddies, as it is expected that more than 50 persons will play. There have been more than 45 persons playing at one time on the local course.

Boy Scouts Continue Paper Collections

The Local Boy Scout Troop No. 22 began their waste paper collection drive last Thursday in cooperation with the National Council to aid the war effort.

Because of school starting the collection day has been changed from Thursday to the last Saturday of each month. The next one being September 30.

Last week's collection was made under the supervision of Joe Friedheim, Frank Miller, N. Hayship and E. C. Minnam and 1600 lbs. of newspapers and magazines were collected by the boys and trucked to Miami where they were sold. Three trucks were donated by Mr. Friedheim, Mr. H. H. Wedgworth and N. Ray Whitlock and used in a house to house canvass.

Funds earned by the Scouts on these drives will be used to purchase camping equipment from supplies in Army Stores and to furnish the Scout Hut.

Citizens of Belle Glade and Chosen asked to please cooperate with the boys by having their paper and magazines ready on Saturday, September 30th and be on hand bundles on stacks on that day, leave bundles on stacks or with neighbors.

Fla. Veg. Com. Directors To Meet In Clewiston

Problems facing the Florida vegetable industry, particularly OPA's proposed formula for quick adjustment formula for vegetable crops in crop disaster, will be discussed at a meeting of the Directors of the Florida Vegetable Committee at Clewiston on Friday, September 8.

Price ceilings in general will be surveyed in the light of information received by the directors. Loring Raul, chairman, and LaMonte Graw, manager, of the Vegetable Committee, will be in attendance. Congressmen and State Senators of the First District has been invited to attend. Sessions will be held in the Clewiston Hotel.

At 10 a. m. Growers are also invited to the meeting. The entire membership of the Vegetable Committee directors, representing every phase of the Florida vegetable industry, will have a specific interest in the matters to come up for discussion, in view of the fact that practically the entire range of vegetable crops is raised in existing and proposed regions.

Already under price ceilings are such commodities as snap beans, carrots, onions, green peas, sweet potatoes, string beans, spinach and watermelons.

Formal notice of ceilings has been issued by OPA. Watermelons, beans, cabbage, cauliflower, pepper, eggplant, lettuce, peppers, Irish potatoes, and tomatoes.

The directors will correlate data on costs, containers, crop hazards, labor and transportation, and the way in which they are worked in Washington prior to the formal establishment of various ceiling prices.

Marry A Gob And Join The WAVES

Marriage to a Navy man is no bar to enlistment of a young woman in the WAVES. The husband holds thereof of Ensign or above, Florida WAVES recruiters pointed out this week as the way an unmarried girl can join the already successful enlistment program in a large number with naval enlistments.

Explaining that state duties of service wives had already taken advantage of the opportunities in the women's reserve recruiters said that the WAVES offered hundreds of other Navy wives a chance to be in the same service, wear the same uniform and enjoy the same benefits as their husbands.

Under the same marriage rules, it was said, single girls may wed the man of their choice, one enlistment in the WAVES is completed.

Basic pay increments for enlistment include ages 20-30, five years of high school or business college, and in normal health. Married women must have no children under 18.

Young women interested in the WAVES are invited to contact

Smack Waffle Shop Open For Business

This week marked the opening of a new and delightfully modern lunch room which gives promise of becoming an innovation to single men or women who depend on restaurants for their meals.

Also, housewives who find it difficult to keep servants and who do not like to cook or wash dishes (and who does) will find that real home-cooked meals are served here at a minimum cost.

Specializing in fried chicken, the Smack Waffle Shop also serves spaghetti, barbecue, chili, steaks, chops, salads, sandwiches and waffles.

The place is roomy and cool with seven tables in addition to a long counter space and is located on Avenue A west of the Florida National Bank. An atmosphere of cleanliness prevails.

J. R. McCartney, owner and proprietor while his wife will operate as manager.

Every Scout is expected to attend, and his family and friends are invited. Present plans are for a cook-out following, contests, a short campfire and Court of Honor.

Local Organizations Endorse Bond Issue For Water Department

With six organizations represented by more than a dozen persons, a joint meeting was held with the Town Commission and other interested citizens at the Town Hall Wednesday night to endorse the proposed bond issue of the proposed bond issue.

The representatives of Rotary, Kiwanis, Chamber of Commerce, Women's Club and Carpenter's Union, after questions and discussions led by Mr. Risk, the Water Department Chairman for the Commission, endorsed the bond issue and agreed to assist in getting the freholders out to vote on September 12th.

A division was agreed on among the several organizations, 302 registered freholders are to be contacted, and will have 60 names of voters for whom they are responsible.

The Committee agreed to meet Tuesday, September 5th at the Town Hall to perfect plans. Among those present were Mrs. Ruby Jones, Women's Club; Dr. Dick Townsend and L. Hughes, Rotary; Everett Waters and Ray Whitlock, Kiwanis; Dr. Charles H. Jones, Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Markham, Carpenter's Union; Luther Jones, the Legion; L. Will, Fire Chief and Joe Freedlund, citizen.

Mr. Risk pointed out that of the $200,000 to be raised, $27,000 is to be used to retire bonds now outstanding. There will be left $173,000 which are not callable at present.

C. C. Elects Secretary

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Alberta Potter was unanimously elected secretary-treasurer to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Mayor William Jeffries of South Bay.

Mr. Jeffries has served in this capacity for four years. His resignation demands on his time prohibit him from serving out the unexpired term of office.

The choice of Mrs. Potter for this post is considered a wise one as she is thoroughly experienced in the financial side of the city and has acted as assistant to Mr. Jeffries for two years.

PTA Attempting To Furnish Apartments Or Rooms For Teachers

With requests from the PTA for pieces of furniture either as donations or for sale, an effort is being made to make teaching in Belle Glade more attractive.

Resignations have left the local white schools in a desperate condition for teachers. Many local women are teaching to help out with four very important posts unfilled at present.

A teacher who is wanted, physical education is without a teacher, and there is no teacher for Math and Science. A great number of the local pupils have bought hand instruments, but there is no instructor.

Just before going to press Prof. Hobson informed us that he has just received an acceptance from a Coach and Physical Education Director.

Mr. W. H. Cook, formerly of Fort Lauderdale, has been coach of the High School there for the past five years, and Prof. Hobson feels lucky in securing him.

Prof. Hobson will take care of the coaching until Mr. Cook has arrived and is ready to take over.

Practice has already begun and is being held each afternoon at 3 o'clock. Those who are going out for the team, or want to practice are asked to show up promptly.

While some of the new houses and duplexes are available for incoming teachers they are not furnished, and the already underpaid teachers are not willing to go in for purchasing furniture. The attractions of the East and West Coast of Florida, as well as let of who interests towns and cities make it a problem to induce teachers to bury their qualifications to bury themselves, so to speak, in a "thick town" like ours. At least that's the way a lot of them look at it from the outside viewpoint and not having the acquaintance locally.

The situation poses a question for local consideration. Some interest must be developed for teachers outside of night hours, extra work at night corrects the problem. May be certainly you would not have those who teach your youngsters at night and who have interests outside of the schoolroom.

The secude and list of teachers below was the condition when it was first made. By the time this is read there'll be more resignations.

hills, irregular fields, so very green, and cut into the funniest little crazy quix fields by low hedges and stone walls. The trees are beautiful, so spreading like maples and big live oaks. They just fit the English countryside like pictures. There are flowers all over the place. From the train windows we saw countless little cottages, covered with climbing roses. Every house has its little vegetable and flower gardens. Very quaint, this country.

"The people are nice too. Very friendly and eager to talk to us. I find them very interesting to listen to when they speak."

"The trip was lovely, nice weather and was never sick a day. There are 32 of us living in this rather large red brick house. I have four room mates. Nearly all of these houses are red brick and stone, and have fireplaces in every room, little things like a dog house and a cat house. This morning Lieutenant Williams, one of our room mates, and I built a fire and heated some water in our room, then made some coffee for our breakfast. We were lary and did not go to breakfast, so we feasted on K-Ration. We are planning on visiting some of the little nearby towns and spend some of our new English money."

Furniture Needed For School Teachers

If you are interested in the continued welfare of the Belle Glade schools and you have any old pieces of furniture you can spare, either as a loan or gift, you are urged to donate it for use in furnishing living quarters for some of the teachers this year.

This appeal has been sent out by Mrs. F. D. Stevens, president of the PTA, in order that three apartments may be furnished for teachers who are unable to rent furnished rooms in the town and cannot afford to buy furniture on the salary they draw.

"Several teachers have already resigned," said Mrs. Stevens, because they could not find living quarters for the school term. It is now up to the public spirited residents, particularly parents of school children, to see that our teachers find a place to live. The PTA has found three apartments but they are unfurnished."

NOTICE!

Far be it from us to dispute with the Office of Price Administration, but the wording they used in their recent large advertisement announcing ceiling prices may have the effect of unintentionally misinforming the public.

Specifically, the OPA advertisement refers to "Premium Beers" and "Non-Premium Beers." This may create the impression that JAX and other good beers produced in Florida are lower in quality than the so-called "premium" beers. THIS IS NOT TRUE.

Had the OPA used the term "national" and "local" instead of "premium" and "non-premium" it would have been nearer the fact, which is that JAX is a premium beer in quality. It sells at popular prices only because it is produced in Florida. It is, therefore, not necessary to include heavy freight and shipping costs which increase the price you have to pay for nationally distributed or so-called premium-classed beers.

Federal Biologist Makes Suggestions On Control Of Rats

Gainesville, Fla.—The rise in the number of cases of endemic typhus during the past few weeks has stimulated Florida folks to vigorous action against the rat, carrier of the disease, according to reports from over the state.

To help them reduce incidence of the disease and also prevent destruction of thousands of dollars worth of food each year, H. J. Spencer, Federal Fish and Wildlife Service biologist at the University of Florida, offered these suggestions for controlling rats:

Keep all food and feed in rat-proof containers, and keep the garbage can covered.

Eliminate piles of old papers and other material that may provide harbors for rats.

Using hardware cloth, sheet metal, concrete, or tin, close all holes by which rats may enter the house or other buildings.

Holes for sewage and water pipes are commonly used by rats to enter buildings.

Safe and practical in controlling rats in the home is the conventional type wooden base snap trap. Contrary to popular belief, cheese is a very poor bait; use a piece of meat, a slice of beef, bacon rind, or sweet potatoes for bait.

Do not smoke or scald trap to remove human or rat scent, but wash it if it becomes bloody.

Change bait frequently and shift location of the trap periodically.

Rats can be caught without bait by attaching a two-inch piece of cardboard to the bait and placing the trap at right angles across their runway.

If rats are to be poisoned, red lead is the safest material to use, but little of this is available now. Several good phosphorus poisons are on the market, however. In using poison baits, special care should be taken to protect humans and domestic animals.

"Campaigns to control rats are fine," Mr. Spencer said, "but more than campaigns are needed. Getting rid of the rats, it is necessary to keep the home rat-proof and to exercise continuous and diligent care to prevent them from returning."

WILL TO WIN

"Those boys were really glad to see us," Lieutenant Alspaugh said warmly, "and treated us like kings. We left for a Liberator base and during the 13 days we spent in Italy, we were treated royally by everyone. When our ship was ready, Colonel Keese, commander of the group, few back with us part of the time as co-pilot."

In writing the commendation, General Spanta, Commander of the United States Strategic Air Forces in Europe, said of Lieutenant Alspaugh: "The fact that you have shown expert air-manship and a great determination in bringing your badly damaged aircraft across the Alps and to a friendly Italian base has been brought to my attention."

"I wish to commend you for this display of perseverance in saving the Government valuable property and personnel. Such an example is indicative of a high state of morale and will be an inspiration to other combat crews finding themselves in similar circumstances."

To General Spanta's commendation, General Doolittle added his warm praise for the young flier's exploit: "It is most gratifying to receive a commendation from the Commanding General U. S. Strategic Air Forces in Europe praising the accomplishment of a combat pilot of the Eighth Air Force for a job well done. I desire to add my personal commendation to that of General Spanta for the spirit of determination demonstrated by you in this instance."

Lieutenant Alspaugh's Division Commander, Maj. Gen. W. E. Kepner, who forwarded the commendations, also added his personal praise for the pilot's accomplishment.

"Your fine air-manship and tenacity of purpose on this occasion does you the greatest credit," Maj. Gen. Kepner said.

Lieutenant Alspaugh has flown many missions over Germany, but except for the Italian adventure, his most hazardous occurred on his third mission. Returning from Hamm, Germany in April, his ship was attacked by a sneaking ME 410 at dusk. The Nazi pilot shot out the tail turret before he could be identified as an enemy ship, then sprayed the Liberator with bullets. An explosion in No. 3 engine caused a fire in the right wing, which spread to the bomb bay.

Fire was lapping in to the waist windows, and one of the waist gunners had been hit in the leg. When he saw the condition of his ship, Lieutenant Alspaugh told his crew to bail out.

"This it is, boys, hit the silk!" By the time all the crew had bailed out, the ship was down to 2500 feet. The pilot, was alone with fire raging all over the big bomber. Every time he left the controls to jump, the ship tumbled up, with great danger of going into a spin. Again and again he returned to the controls, righted the ship and sought a way out of the burning Liberator, after setting her on a course out to sea. Then suddenly the ship seemed to be on an even keel. Lieutenant Alspaugh dove down from the flight deck through flames and the partially open bomb bay doors to parachute from the low altitude of 1100 feet. Pilot and crew parachuted to safety, the only casualties being the leg wound of the waist gunner and the engineer, who had broken an ankle when he landed.

Mrs. Helen Alspaugh, Leroy's mother, is a busy resident of Belle Glade, having taken over and continued his father's business.

BIBLE QUESTIONS ANSWERED BY THE VOICE OF PROPHECY INTERNATIONAL BIBLE BROADCASTERS

Question—Is heaven a real place or a mental or spiritual condition only?

Answer—Let the words of Christ answer this question: "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believed in God, believe also in Me. In My Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you into Myself; that where I am, there ye may be also." John 14:1-3.

Our Saviour calls it a "place."

Q.—Does not Mark 9:1 mean that some of those people are still alive somewhere in the world?

A.—First, let us read the text: "And He said unto them, Verily I say unto you, That there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death, till they have seen the kingdom of God come with power." The legend of the "Wandering Jew" who could never die stemmed from such a view of this and other texts. It is all cleared up by reading Luke 2:34-35. The transfiguration was a representation of Christ's coming in glory. This is proved by 2 Peter 1:16-18—read it. Moses typified those who will be raised from the dead at Christ's coming, and Elijah those who will be translated without seeing death. See Jude 5; Romans 8:14; 1 Thessalonians 4:16-17; and 2 Kings 2:11, 12.

Q.—I enjoy your answers to Bible questions, and wish you would tell me this—is it possible for a person to sink so low in a bad life that God cannot lift him out?

A.—Don't be discouraged. There is hope in God for the man who wants it. Just read Hebrews 7:25: "Wherefore He is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by Him, seeing He ever liveth to make intercession for them."

Q.—Why can't we understand everything in heaven and earth?

A.—Well, one answer is Deuteronomy 29:29: "The secret things belong unto the Lord our God: but those things which are revealed belong unto us and to our children for ever, that we may do all the words of this law."

Q.—Do you think I will be lost if I live a good life but do not find it convenient to keep all the Commandments?

A.—Read James 2:12: "So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty." And 1st James 4:17: "Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and saith it not, to him it is sin." With these scriptures before him, we have the decision to our questioners.
